HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDER.

James Georgiou Arrested Following Death of Sam Antonio.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Roanoke, Va., August 25.—Sam Antonio, a Greek, stabbed by one of his partners in the restaurant business last Thursday, August 17, died this morning at the hospital, and James Georgiou is held on the charge of murder. The Greeks quarreled over a small financial matter and a fight followed. In the melee Georgiou used a long carving knife, and stabbed his partner in the abdomen, cutting a gash in his liver. The accused murderer insists that he was attacked by three of his countrymen, and was being beaten and kicked by them when he reached to the kitchen table and got the knife and used it to defend himself. He will endeavor to gain an acquittal, on the plea of self-defense.

Mr. Prince was a forty-three years of age and is survived by his wife and one child, aged three.

NEGRO PRISONER ATTACKS SHERIFF

Makes Desperate Effort to Escape, but Finally Is Subdued.

FUGITIVES STILL AT LARGE

Steel Bridge Will Be Built Over Appomattox—Other Petersburg News.

Times-Dispatch Bureau, 103 North Bycarnore Street, Petersburg, Va., August 25.

When Sheriff W. E. Boisseau, of Prince George county, entered a cell in the jail this morning to feed the negro prisoner confined there on charges of felony, he was suddenly and violently attacked by one of the men, whose purpose was to escape. The sheriff was taken at a disadvantage, not suspecting anything of the kind, and for some time had an exciting wrestle with the negro. By main force the negro got possession of the sheriff's pistol and pointed it directly in his face, but for some reason, probably fear, failed to fire. Seizing a moment of advantage the sheriff grabbed the negro's arm and dealt him a stinging blow in the face, and was able to recover possession of his pistol. Meanwhile information as to the trouble in the jail was sent out, and assistance quickly came. The negro was subdued and forced back into his cell. The other two negroes did not take any part in the assault.

Woman Shot by Man.
Cora Belle Butler, a negroess, was shot this afternoon by a negro named Skinner on Low Street, following a quarrel over transferred affections. The ball entered the woman's shoulder in the rear, and was extracted by a physician. Skinner fled and has not been captured.

Fugitives Still at Large.
E. W. Rainey and Rufus Barnes, the forgers who escaped from the City Jail night before last, have not been captured, though it is believed they will be in a day or two. Measures have been taken to intercept and arrest them, in whichever direction they have gone. They separated before leaving Petersburg. Barnes is a stranger in these parts. Rainey is a Prince Georgian, and has large acquaintance in that county.

Sent On for Trial.
Charles Hurst, negro, was to-day sent to the Hastings Court for assault, with intent to kill, on Clarence Goldner, colored, who was taken to the hospital for appendicitis.

Narrow Escape of Boys.

Two little boys, Leonard and Harry Wells, sons of B. L. Wells, who resides on Liberty Street, had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday afternoon. While crossing Gill St. at the junction of Halifax St., they were knocked down and run over by a frightened horse hitched to a buggy belonging to Dr. Crockford, which came down Gill Street. Both of the boys were injured, but not seriously. The wheels of the buggy ran over Leonard's body, causing some bruises. The boys received prompt attention, and were sent to their home.

ACTION FOR ALLEGED BREACH OF CONTRACT

Suit for $1,400 Started by Fredericksburg Contractor—Interest in Approaching Fair.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Fredericksburg, Va., August 25.—Contractor A. M. Garner has entered suit in the Corporation Court against George W. Richards for the sum of $1,400 for alleged breach of contract. Mr. Garner claiming the amount due him for work done on a bungalow which he partially built for Mr. Richards.

Much interest is felt in the coming Fredericksburg Agricultural Fair, which takes place on the grounds here September 26, 27 and 28. Women make extensive exhibits of domestic work, such as fancy work, embroidery and other substantial articles in the way of handwork, as well as the endless good things in the culinary department of the well regulated Virginia household. Agricultural products are also largely exhibited, though the number this year may perhaps be smaller than in some former years, owing to the hot and dry season. Many inquiries are being made about the races, there being a good program for each day and satisfactory exhibits in all of the departments is expected.

The fair is always largely attended. In the twenty-five years of its history it has never had a failure.

The 11th annual session of the Shiloh Baptist Association will be held with the church at Gordville, Culpeper county, beginning Tuesday, August 29, and lasting three days. Rev. Marshall C. Frazer will preach the opening sermon.

A forest fire has been burning on the timber lands of L. J. Johnson, C. O'Connor Goodrick and several others on the River Road above the city. The fire started near the sawmill of Mr. Jett, and spread for some distance, burning over two or three hundred acres of land.

A number of citizens, headed by Councilman W. E. Embrey, have joined in an order for a carload of oil to be used in laying the dust in front of their premises. In this way it can be obtained at a greatly reduced price. A carload contains about 6,000 gallons. The experiments made by Mr. Embrey some time ago in laying the dust with oil proved entirely satisfactory.

ZACK MARKS ARRESTED

Alleged Murderer of Charles Ellen Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., August 25.—After evading arrest since October 22, 1902, on which date he is alleged to have killed Charles Ellen in Harnett county, N. C., Zack Marks has been arrested in Santa Rosa county, Fla., where he served at one time as a deputy sheriff, later as a postmaster at Gattys, a village named from T. Z. Gattys, his alias, and where also he became a successful naval stores operator. He stated while here that he killed Ellen in self-defense after the latter tried to force his young brother to drink wine with him. His wife has notified the authorities, and also charges him with brutal treatment recently toward his stepdaughter and herself.
